

Personal opinion pieces terms and conditions

January 2024 version | Effective date: 14/01/2024

By submitting a personal opinion piece to Project Positivity, you agree to these terms and conditions.

Definitions

'You' or 'Your' refers to the submitter. 'Submission' refers to the submitter's personal opinion piece.

Content

Your submission must be non-offensive, respectful, non-discriminatory, not target any individual, group or place and uphold all English laws. You should provide honest and authentic personal opinions and / or experiences which must be from you, not others. You must not impersonate anyone. Your personal opinion piece should be about the English education system.

Anonymity

When contributing a personal opinion piece, you will remain anonymous. Project Positivity will not ask for any information that identifies you. You must not disclose your name, age, home / school or work location, contact details or any other information which could identify you. Since you remain anonymous, it is impossible for you to withdraw, edit, delete or request a copy of your personal opinion piece after submission as Project Positivity cannot confirm the request is legitimate.

Safeguarding minors (under 18s)

All participants are anonymous. Project Positivity does not knowingly collect, store or share any data from minors under the age of 13 which identifies them. Project Positivity takes all reasonable measures to safeguard minors including a personal opinion piece review process which ensures minors remain anonymous.

Verification

The verification of personal opinion pieces will be limited. Any verification process will be initiated by Project Positivity and granted at Project Positivity's discretion. If you have received a verification pin to enter when submitting your personal opinion piece, you confirm you have and will continue to keep the verification pin confidential as this is personal to you.

Submission review

All submissions will be reviewed by Project Positivity for compliance with these terms and conditions. Project Positivity reserves the right to edit your submission for clarity and anonymity. All reasonable efforts will be made to preserve the core message of your personal opinion piece. Project Positivity reserves the right to reject submissions at its discretion without providing a reason.

Permission and sharing

Project Positivity reserves the right to share, whether in full or part, your submission across Project Positivity's platforms including, but not limited to, its website, social media and mailing list as well as the right to remove it at any time. You grant Project Positivity the rights to use your personal opinion piece in the ways described in this policy. Project Positivity requests that you do not submit more than 2 personal opinion pieces per month.

Privacy policy

When contributing a personal opinion piece, the privacy policy still applies. Visit projectpositivity.net to read it.

Changes to this policy

Any new versions of this policy which contain changes will not effect the validity of this terms and conditions policy (January 2024 version) for any personal opinion pieces which were submitted when this policy was valid. This is a PDF copy of the January 2024 version.
